

Episode #021 An Appreciation of Prison Art & Other Thoughts

Have you ever risked something for the creation of your art? Have you ever been forced to create while dealing with the fear of severe punishment if caught? Charlie goes solo this week, reflecting on a Moma PS1 exhibit exploring the art of incarcerated Americans. He also poses the question on what constitutes something as a work of art. A banana taped to the wall with duct tape? Charlie discusses the work of Brandon Stanton's Humans of NY, the importance of empathy in acting, and an appreciation of the actor Cole Hauser. You can follow CBP on Instagram @creatingbehavior, and the Maggie Flanigan Studio @maggieflaniganstudio. Leave a message for Charlie at <https://www.creatingbehaviorpodcast.com>

- MOMA PS1

- <https://www.moma.org/calendar/exhibitions?location=ps1>

- <https://www.nybooks.com/daily/2020/04/28/creation-in-confinement-art-in-the-age-of-mass-incarceration/>

- Eddie Van Halen

- <https://www.nytimes.com/2020/10/06/arts/music/eddie-van-halen-dead.html>

- <https://www.nytimes.com/2020/10/06/arts/music/eddie-van-halen-songs.html>

- Humans Of NY

- <https://www.humansofnewyork.com>

- <https://www.nytimes.com/2020/09/28/style/tanqueray-humans-of-new-york.html>

- <https://www.humansofnewyork.com/post/189208565306/my-stripper-name-was-tanqueray-back-in-the>

- Fruit as Art

- <https://news.artnet.com/market/maurizio-cattelan-banana-art-basel-miami-beach-1722516>
- <https://news.artnet.com/art-world/darren-bader-fruits-vegetables-food-art-1763388>
- <https://www.washingtonpost.com/archive/lifestyle/2005/12/22/for-snails-the-slimelight-is-fleeting/2dfa8286-328e-4030-ad08-0923d9058b66/>
- <https://www.smithsonianmag.com/smithsonian-institution/art-chocolate-and-soap-180954180/>

- Brené Brown

- <https://www.psychologytoday.com/us/blog/partnering-in-mental-health/201408/bren-brown-empathy-vs-sympathy-0>

- Cole Hauser

- <https://www.wideopencountry.com/cole-hauser/>
- <https://www.vulture.com/article/yellowstone-most-american-show-analysis.html>

- Little Pooper

