

Episode #028 British Actress & Author Jade Asha

This week Charlie rings in the holiday season with the versatile British actress Jade Asha, who is carving out a successful acting career while also adding podcaster, writer, producer, director, casting director, voice over artist, fight performer, and now published author to her ever growing resume. Jade and Charlie talk about her new book of career advice, Actorpreneur, and the wide ranging insights she has learned about living the life of a professional actor. Tips on auditioning? Check. Advice on handling intimate scenes? Check. How should you approach headshots? Check. Firing your agent? Check. All this and more from a generous, inspiring, and creative spirit.
